

Page Program

The page program is designed to accomplish two goals:

1. To give participants the involvement closer to what they'll experience in the "real world". And,
 2. Allow new participants an opportunity to experience multiple program areas of the M/L&C.
- Pages work closely with the Houses, Governor's office, and Court programs.

Although the experience of a mock legislature and court program is invaluable, the vast majority of delegates will not run for an office after high school, nor practice law in a court room. What almost every delegate will experience is A) working in an office setting of some sort, and B) having a boss, manager or supervisor directing your work day. Pages will learn and hone multiple skills vital to being successful in the job market: resume writing and interviewing, self-responsibility, team dynamics, achieving deadlines under pressure, time management, self-promoting, and others.

Participants will be required to bring copies of a resume they've created to Bob II to be critiqued by delegates and given to statewide program officers for their aid in selecting Executive Assistants. Those Executive Assistants are either elected or selected and will stay in that position during Sacramento.

Other Page duties are varied by the logistic and legislature positions below and change daily. Each job is vital to the efficient operation of the program that it serves.

As the week-long experience draws to a close and pages return to their schools and communities, it is hoped that pages will share their experiences and observations with others in an effort to contribute to a more universal understanding of the legislative process, a working office environment, and the Youth & Government Program.
